As I mentioned the other day, I was able to record lightning over the ocean. Attached are some still shots, and below are links to the video.

The video is 31 seconds in length, and 36 megabytes in size. It's designed to be viewed at full screen.

It will play on Windows Media Player, but it must be a recent version. Go to "File" -> "Open URL" and paste the appropriate link below in the field. You could also try just clicking the link, but that will only work if your browser is already set up to play mpegs automatically.

This link is APL Internal Only...

and this link is available outside APL...

These were the storms that apparently missed Columbia last Tuesday & Wednesday evening, but went right over our heads at Ocean City MD.
