Hello (see attached).

So wraps up another vacation week at the ocean. Always too short.

I created another animation:

100 frames taken at three minute intervals over 5 hours. Not too bad given all I had was a camera, tripod, and clock. It was rather tedious.

Also attached is a partial moon shot. For you digi-photo phreaks, I saved the raw data, and edited it to compensate for the lens aberrations to crisp the lunar mountains and craters.

Cheers and enjoy your Summer (Winter for those on the list from down-under).

D & G.
