Hello from the club at Denver International Airport.

My trip got cut short (although I have to fly back out at the end of the week to finish the task), and I had an afternoon to kill on Oahu before flying out on the red-eye. So, I went to the Northwest corner of the island to Dillingham Airfield and took a ride on a Glider.

Unfortunately, the combination of the dome canopy over the cockpit and bright sun caused lots of reflections that hampered photography. But trust me, the view was spectacular.

Cheers,
G.
